

Tuesday, October 13, 2009

Scott & White opens new clinic in Georgetown

Austin Business Journal

Scott & White Healthcare will officially debut its new Sports Medicine and Rehabilitation Clinic in Georgetown on Tuesday.

The 6,000-square-foot clinic at 5353 Williams Drive includes three exam rooms, a room for speech therapy and another for occupational therapy. There is also a 3,500-square-foot gym.

“With the continued growth in our region, there’s an increased need for all healthcare services particularly rehab services where we see patients two to three times a week on average,” said Dr. Brian Carr, lead therapist at the Scott & White clinic.

The clinic will employ physical therapists, occupational therapists, speech pathologists and physical therapy assistants, Carr said.

Courtesy of JB Goodwin