

MEDICAL DEVICE MAKERS PLAN NEW HQ

SAN ANTONIO (San Antonio Express-News) – Kinetic Concepts Inc. has announced plans for its new corporate headquarters that is slated to open in summer 2012 on the northwest side of the city.

The medical device maker acquired 8.3 acres at 12930 I-10 W, south of Hausman Rd., where it will build a three-story, 100,000-sf office property.

“Our decision to build a new corporate headquarters is based on the growth of the business,” company spokesman Joe Izbrand said.

The company will vacate its current headquarters at the 14-story KCI Tower at 8023 Vantage Dr. after construction on the new building is completed. The company leased approximately 140,000 sf from floors one to 15 in the 165,000-sf KCI Tower. It vacated floors 11, 12 and 15 after elevator complications.

KCI produces a line of vacuum-assisted wound-closure devices used to treat chronic and large wounds.
